Pedigree Studies

Pedigrees are not reserved for show dogs and race horses. All living things, including humans, have pedigrees. A pedigree is a diagram that shows the occurrence and appearance, or phenotype, of a particular genetic trait from one generation to the next in a family. Genotypes for individuals in a pedigree usually can be determined with an understanding of inheritance and probability. In this investigation, you will:

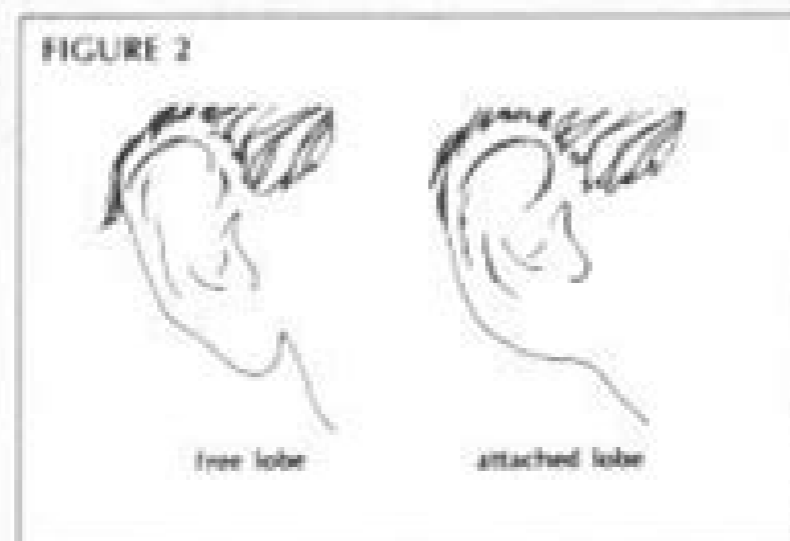

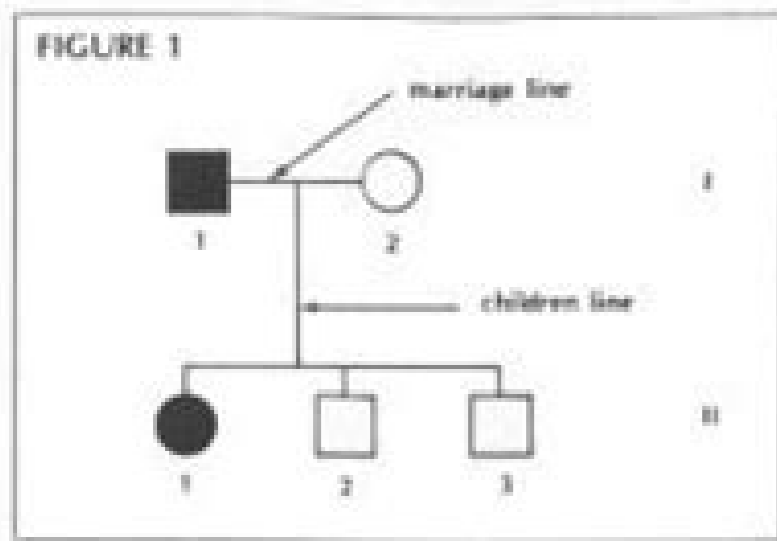

- learn the meaning of all symbols and lines that are used in a pedigree.
- calculate expected genotypes for all individuals shown in pedigrees.

PROCEDURE:

PART A: Background Information

The pedigree in Figure 1 shows the pattern of inheritance in a family for a specific trait. The trait being shown is earlobe shape. Geneticists recognize two general earlobe shapes, free lobes and attached lobes (see Figure 2). The gene responsible for free lobes (E) is dominant over the gene for attached lobes (e).

In a pedigree, each generation is represented by a Roman numeral. Each person in a generation is numbered. Thus each person can be identified by a generation numeral and individual number. Males are represented by squares whereas females are represented by circles.

PART B: Reading a Pedigree

In Figure 1, persons I-1 and I-2 are the parents. The line which connects them is called a marriage line. Persons II-1, II-2, and II-3 are their children. The line which extends down from the marriage line is the children line. The children are placed left to right in order of their births. That is, the oldest child is always on the left.

- What sex is the oldest child? _____
- What sex is the youngest child? _____
- What is the genotype of free lobes? _____ and _____
- What is the genotype of attached lobes? _____

Biology: Pedigree Worksheet

Directions: Use the pedigrees below to answer the following questions.

- What does a pedigree show?

- Which members of the family are afflicted with Huntington's disease? _____
- There are no carriers of Huntington's Disease: either you have it or you don't. With this in mind, is Huntington's disease caused by a dominant or recessive allele? Explain.
- How many children did individuals I-1 and I-2 have? _____
- How many girls did II-1 and II-2 have? _____ How many have Huntington's disease? _____
- How is individual III-2 and II-4 related? _____ I-2 and III-5? _____
- If individual III-3 were to marry a man with Huntington's disease (homozygous dominant), what would be the chances of their children having the disease? Show the punnett square!
- Based on your results in #7, do you feel III-3 should have children with her husband? Explain your opinion.
